THE MITCHELL MUSEUM OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN is one of the few museums across the country that focuses exclusively on the art, history and culture of American Indian and First Nation peoples from the United States and Canada from the Paleo-Indian times to the present.

Learn more about nurturing the land: In our exhibit “All My Relations: A Seneca History,” discover how the Seneca fought to stop the Kinzua Dam from flooding their homeland 50 years ago and the efforts today to stop the poisoning of traditional rice fields on the Bad River Reservation.
