Explore how our indigenous cultures shape our history and identity today in this two-part series with the South Side Community Art Center. Panelists from the Native American and African American communities will look beyond the history of removal, slavery and war to tap the best of their indigenous tribal cultures. The program will conclude with a Q&A and offer tips on finding out more about your own ancestry. Audience members are asked to bring an object or story to share that helps them define their own indigenous roots.

Tickets are $12 / $10 for Mitchell Museum members and can be purchased online at www.inheritchicago.org
